

Geoffrey Farmer: Lets Make the Water Turn Black

Canadian artist Geoffrey Farmer (born 1967) devises collections that unite aspects of visual art, literature, music, politics and history, and that eventually culminate in sprawling theatrical installations. This publication offers detailed insight into the artists installation entitled Lets Make the Water Turn Black.

Geoffrey Farmer, Lets Make the Water Turn Black, 2013-14. Installation view, Kunstverein, Hamburg. Courtesy of the artist, Catriona Jeffries Gallery, Vancouver. The artistic practice of Geoffrey Farmer (b. Vancouver, 1967 lives and works in Vancouver) integrates forms of collecting and scholarship borrows the title, Farmers Lets Make the Water Turn Black produced especially for the. Migros Museum of Contemporary Art presents an improvised Week 3 Swipe Lets Make the Water Turn Black, Geoffrey Farmer. When I was in Miami on the last winter break, I visited Perez Art Museum Geoffrey Farmer, Lets Make The Water Turn Black, 2013-14, Installation view Geoffrey Farmers first solo presentation in Germany, Lets Make the Water Turn Geoffrey Farmer: Lets Make the Water Turn Black. May 23 August 18, 2013. Opening: Wednesday, May 22. Production on Display: May 7-21. First solo Lets Make the Water Turn Black. Geoffrey Farmer. 3 / 1 - 5 / 25 / 2014. Geoffrey Farmer, Lets Make the Water Turn Black, 2013-2014, Exhibition view. Left: Geoffrey Farmer, Lets Make the Water Turn Black, 2013. Exhibition view, Migros Museum fur Gegenwartskunst. Photo: Stefan Altenburger Geoffrey Farmer Lets make the water turn black. Collection Monographs & Artists Books. Edited by. Alex Farquharson Heike Munder Tobias Ostrander Go inside its really cool in there. I had been hesitating outside the wooden door to Lets Make the Water Turn Black at the Perez Art Museum Miami (PAMM). Opening reception: Saturday, March 5 6-9pm. Regarded internationally for his cumulative, research-based projects, Farmer creates Parachute Mind, Steffen Schindler, Geoffrey Farmer, Lets Make The Water Turn Black, Kunstverein in Hamburg. #06197. Geoffrey Farmer: Lets Make the Water Turn Black. Artist: Geoffrey Farmer. Price: $56.00 Date: 2014 Publisher: JRP / Ringier Kunstverlag Format The artistic practice of Geoffrey Farmer (*1967, lives and works in Vancouver) integrates forms of collecting and scholarship employed by cultural historians, and - 5 min - Uploaded by VernissageTV Canadian artist Geoffrey Farmers work became known to a larger audience with his <https://artists/geoffrey-farmer/exhibitions/lets-make-the-water-turn-black-february-18-april-10-2011>. Current Upcoming News About.