

Claiming Rose and Moving to the New House (Sexual Misadventures of a Young Man Book 21)

After he buys the grand old estate, Grant realizes he will need more help running his new house than Mrs. Williams can provide, good as she is. He needs a professional, and he knows exactly where to find her. Rose, the manager of the Fine Dining, is ideal for the job, so Grant and Jade decide he will claim her. At the Fine Dining when he is taking Rose home, he is confronted by a guard who tries to stop her from leaving. Taking this obstacle as another indication he may be in danger, he begins to plan for ensuring the safety of his family. Rose warns him there are older masters who resent his power, particularly that he is Sultan of Cairo. Madhurs parents have betrothed her to the son of a family in India and Grant discovers that someone has been spying on Jennifer's house. With these new problems arising, he decides to speed up his move to Union City. He sends Rose ahead to the new house, taking Madhur and Lucy, his young sex slave with her. To protect him, he claims well-trained guards to go with them and set up the necessary security at the new house.
