

A Treatise Upon the Customary Law of Foreign Attachment, and the Practice of the Mayors Court of the City of London Therein With Forms I Procedure (Classic Reprint)

The customary process of Foreign Attachment, as will be seen by the following treatise, is for the purpose of compelling the appearance of a debtor to an action at the suit of his creditor by a distraint upon his property, and, in default of such appearance, an application of the property towards the payment of the creditors debt. The custom forms a very ready method of obtaining the payment of a debt without affecting the liberty of the subject, and is in strict accordance with the principle of modern legislation between debtor and creditor. The legislature has adopted the principle of the custom, if not the letter of it, in the garnishee clauses of the Common Law Procedure Act 1854, but an attachment under that Act can only be obtained where the debt of the plaintiff has become a judgment debt, while a foreign attachment can be issued where the plaintiffs debt is merely a simple contract debt.
